Topic: BOSTON ON FIRE: Fire Safety / Fire Prevention

Speaker: Stephanie Schorow

Stephanie Schorow is a long-time Boston-area reporter and editor who has written four books on Boston's history, including: Boston On Fire: A History of Fire and Firefighting in Boston, The Crime of the Century: How the Brink's Robbers Stole Millions and the Hearts of Boston, The Cocoanut Grove Fire and East of Boston: Notes from the Harbor Islands. Ms. Schorow also was the editor of Boston's Fire Trail: A Walk Through the City's Fire and Fire-fighting History, a guide and history produced by the Boston Fire History Society; she serves on the board of this group. Ms. Schorow has done extensive research into the history/development of Boston's Fire Alarm system, the first in the country and a model for systems that follow. She continues to research the Cocoanut Grove Fire, including the lingering mysteries about how that fire started. Currently she is organizing "Boston Fire History Month," a series of lectures and events in November to mark the anniversary of two major Boston fires – the devastating 1872 fire that leveled the downtown and the tragic Cocoanut Grove nightclub fire of 1942. As a reporter and editor at the Boston Herald for 12 years, she wrote a weekly column on lifestyle and technology issues and currently she writes freelance articles for the MIT and Harvard news services.
